THE GARGOYLE IS COMING TO TOWN

THE BIG TOP

The circus has its Big Top
    Made of canvas, taut with ropes,
And underneath it shelters
    A brood of childish hopes.
Cotton candied hands applaud
    As onward moves the show:
Each entertainment in its turn
    Makes the freckled faces glow.

Soon each child will leave
    For home and his waiting bed
To live again the happy dreams
    That romp in his tousled head.

Life, too, has its Big Top
    With its canopy of stars
And you and I as well as the rest
    Are the acrobats on bars,
The bareback riders, the laughing clowns:
    Each one must play his part
As Time, the Master of the Ring,
    Snaps his whip for the show to start.

So, give it the best that's in you
    For it's only a one night stand:
And there'll be no repeat performances -
    By reason of popular demand.

DEDICATION

MARTHA BROWN

THE Class of 1951 wishes to dedicate the Gargoyle to Miss Martha Brown. It is with deepest appreciation that we bestow this honor upon her.

Miss Brown for many years has served our school diligently. Through her untiring efforts and genial manner, she has been an inspiration and example for all to follow. She has won the praise and admiration of every student who has ever passed in and out of the portals of the Fifth Grade room.

IN MEMORIAM

BURTON H. LITTLE

WE, the students of Cuba Central School, wish to honor the memory of the late Burton H. Little. Mr. Little became Secretary to the Board of Education and Clerk of the District in 1936 which position he held until his death November 13, 1950.

Mr. Little was of great service to both the community and school. He was well-known and respected by all, and he will long be remembered for his contributions to their welfare. We will never forget his cheery smile and friendly manner.

RINGMASTER

ALFRED L. COLBURN

WHEN national and international situations, such as these problems confronting us today, seem almost insurmountable, we take heart in the realization that we of a democratic country can have the privilege of democratic schools and education. We give thanks to God that a high school education is available to every American boy and girl, and we trust that those democratic ideals learned and practiced in our schools may enable these young people to take their place as responsible citizens in helping to shape the pattern of a free and peaceful life for all.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

MR. A. BROWN, MR. A. JORDAN, MR. G. SCOTT, MR. A. MOOT, DR. D. SCUTT, MR. H. SETCHEL, MR. R. BOTENS.

BEHIND the big top -- our Board of Education. This group of men are the planners and the governing body of the school. To them we owe the credit for our fair rules and regulations, the administration and upkeep of C.C.S., their efficient guidance, their interest and concern that Cuba be in the forefront in educational activities -- for all of these things we say, "Our sincere appreciation and thank you."

THE faculty -- our trainers in Cuba Central School. They have faithfully devoted their time to the problems of running the three main rings of C.C.S.: elementary, high school and extra-curricular activities. The success we have achieved or may achieve is largely due to their wholehearted interest in our welfare and to their professional skill.

GUIDANCE

MR. CHILDS AND MRS. ROSS

THIS is being written on January 2, 1951-- the second day of the second half of the Twentieth Century. What new problems must the people, the schools, the nation and its youth face during these next fifty years?

The concept of guidance will probably change little during the coming years. Its goal will continue to be the practice of providing each individual with a wide range of information with which he should become familiar. This information concerns himself--his interests, aptitudes, abilities, previous development in the various areas of living and his plans and ambitions for the future. Guidance seeks to help the student become acquainted with the various problems of social, vocational and recreational adjustment which he faces. Working on the premise that the more a person knows about himself and the problems which he will face, the more intelligently will he be able to make the choices, decisions and adjustments necessary in daily life.

While the objectives of the guidance program remain somewhat constant, the problems met are varied. The present international situation looks grim to most people. The progress of affairs in Korea, Indo-China, Iran, and Germany may quickly and directly affect the pupils in our school. What are some of the problems which high school students must face today?

Boys are faced with induction into the Armed Forces. They question the advisability of starting advanced educational training when they know that they will probably not be able to finish it before going into service. Younger boys in high school are equally confused. Often they assume an attitude of indifference toward school when their future is at once so regulated and yet so uncertain. Many boys who ordinarily would complete high school will quit and either go to work or join the Armed Forces.

Girls are not affected quite so directly by the trend of international events. Undoubtedly many who would normally go on to school will now take jobs for monetary or patriotic reasons. Some will join the Armed Forces. Many will marry at an earlier age. While these problems are not as numerous as with boys, they are equally important.

What are the answers to these problems which the year 1951 is forcing upon our students? First, education has, does, and probably in the future will continue to be of great importance in occupational training. The doors to many opportunities in the Armed Forces, as well as in civilian life thereafter, will be closed to the boys and girls who have not completed high school. Many qualified persons will receive advanced educational training through military assistance. It should also be remembered that the person who has had some advanced training beyond high school will be more likely to go back to school after military training to complete it than the boy who decided to enlist first and go to school afterwards.

Make the most of your opportunities in school that you may be prepared for whatever opportunities the future presents. It might be well to remember that emergencies are temporary. Normalcy will come again. Be prepared for that, let your plans be long-range ones.

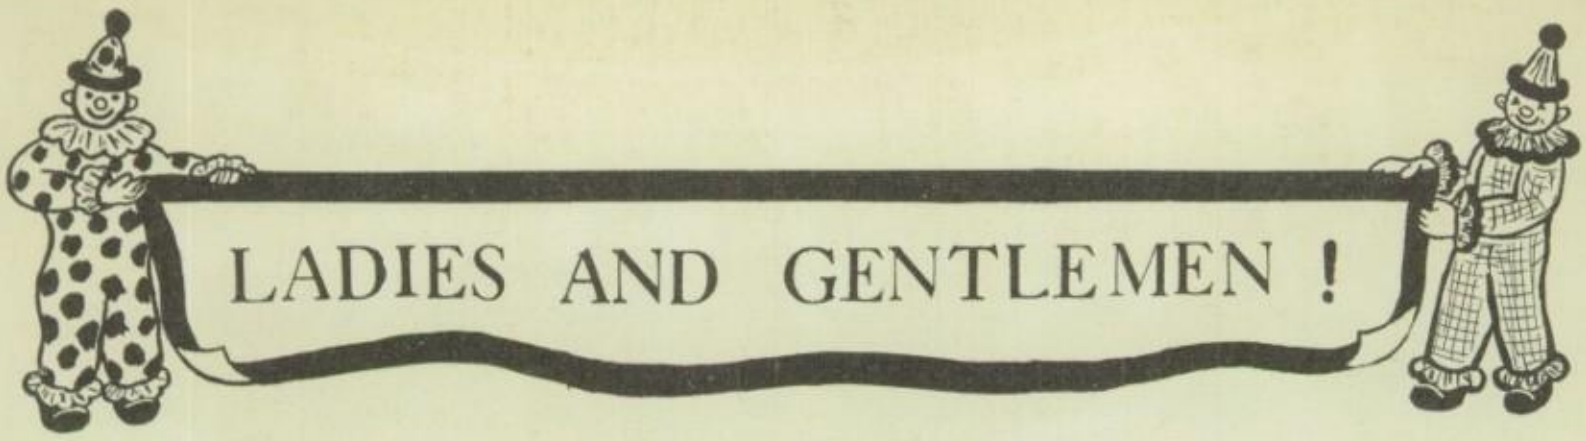
JR.-SR. BANQUET 1950



IN this 1951 "Gargoyle," we, the Seniors of C.C.S., come before you as the stars of our three ring circus. The years of our connections with C.C.S., have been memorable ones for us although they have often proved very trying for the trainer.

Many of us have spent all of our twelve years of training in the new building. Throughout the elementary grades, we were closely associated with the elementary trainers, occupying the smallest of the three rings when we weren't peeking under the sides of the other tents. We happily reached the half-way mark in June, 1947, when we graduated from the eighth grade, unaware of the difficult tasks that lay ahead.

Joyously, we took over the third floor of C. C. S. in September, 1947, with hardly a care in the world. Finding it very difficult to settle down to the routine of homework--and still more homework--we nearly drove the trainers frantic.

Our time was divided between the two remaining rings--curricular and extracurricular activities.

The year passed quickly and before we knew it a new season was upon us. The Sophomore year flew by more quickly for we were a trifle more experienced and had begun to fit into the pattern of school life, thus making the trainers' tasks much easier.

In September 1949, we marched down the halls of C.C.S. with a little more dignity, for now we were upperclassmen. Anxiously, we waited for the first of February when we would take over the task of raising funds for the Washington trip. The Junior play, "Life with Father," the Centennial Ball, and the Junior-Senior Banquet, our first money-raising activities, were all very successful. Having struggled through the regents examinations, we breathed a sigh of relief. We were Seniors at last!

In the three rings of our circus, we have gained an excellent education not only from our books but also from our contact with many people in extracurricular activities.

September, 1950, found thirty-five ambitious Seniors roaming the halls of C.C.S. and the streets of Cuba selling candy, wrapping paper, and Christmas Cards.

We chose for our guiding officials President, Benny Smith; Vice-President, John Shelley; Secretary, Mary Fodor; and Treasurer, Audrey Beebe.

The Senior play, "Dear Ruth," and the Christmas Ball proved quite successful, adding to the increasing treasury. Before we knew it, February first was upon us and, reluctantly, we let the Juniors take over these money-raising activities. The time passed rapidly and on April ninth we embarked on our long awaited Washington trip.

Having recovered from the wonderful trip, we participated in the Junior-Senior Banquet in May, and then, before we knew it, graduation was upon us.

Throughout this book, we have compared our school life to a circus, but it has also had its serious moments and this was one of them. Never before had we realized how much our school meant to us until we were to leave, many of us never to come back. As skilled performers, the stars of the show, we shall always remember our first performance at C.C.S. as we now take our places for the opening of the final act, the performance of our lives.

We wish to pay tribute to Mrs. Brown and Miss Crawford, our class advisors, and to Mr. Knowles, our yearbook advisor, for having helped make our high school years ones we shall never forget.

IN September 1950, we gaily entered the halls of Cuba Central School. The year which was ahead of us was full of many social events. To execute these successfully, we elected our capable officers: President, Don McLennan; Vice-President, Doug Finnemore; Secretary, Ruth Burt; Treasurer, Doug Smith.

Our class had now obtained recognition as a major organization. We had gradually risen to a higher position as upperclassmen. Foremost in all of our minds was the Washington trip. We devised a method of raising money by having a piggy bank, namely, "Squeaky." This was mainly a race between the boys and girls to see who could raise the most money. This system was very profitable -- one semester, $107!

The Class sponsored the Colgate Glee Club which was a great success, financially and from an entertainment standpoint. On March 2 came the "Cole Indoor Circus." This was highly approved by young and old. After many weeks of hard practice, the Juniors were ready for their debut as actors by putting on the play, "Cheaper By The Dozen" by Frank Gilbraith, Jr. and Ernestine Gilbraith Carey. Their weeks of rehearsal proved to be a great asset as it was one of the outstanding plays in the history of C.C.S.

WE entered the halls of Cuba Central School a much more experienced class than we had been the year before. We chose as our officers: President, Fred Whipple; Vice-President, Dick Doyle; Secretary, Louise Ross; and Treasurer, Ellen Older.

During this year, we had a more uniform method of combining school work with extracurricular activities. Our activities were still rather small, but we had the teachers in an up-roar over our marks and our conduct. From this behavior, we earned the name "Clowns." We carried this name well because there was never a dull moment when we were around.

Our Freshman and Sophomore years were chiefly full of studying and learning. We had fun but are now ready to settle down and earn money for various activities, and foremost among these activities is the Washington trip. Along with raising money, we are also ready to earn higher scholastic acclaim.

IN the fall of 1950, we stormed the third floor of Cuba Central School. Here we had to juggle oceans of homework with our overcrowded schedule of extracurricular activities. To begin our rigid schedule, we elected officers, choosing as our guiding officials: President, Merle Ross; Vice-President, Raymond Watson; Secretary and Treasurer, David M. McCollister.

Doing homework limited our activities, but, nevertheless, we made ourselves known on the third floor. We gaily carried the name of Jugglers throughout this school year. This name was acquired by our ability to combine homework with other events. Even though no money-making ventures were carried out, we prepared for later years in high school by watching our upperclassmen. By merely watching, we hoped to fill as capably as possible the positions that were ahead of us.

CCS Yearbook Wins Honors at Press Conference

The Gargoyle, CCS yearbook, took a blue ribbon for the 1950 edition at the 28th Western New York Interscholastic Press association conference at Orchard Park last Saturday. Seven CCS students and Herman Knowles, yearbook advisor, were among the 500 students and advisors from 79 Western New York and Pennsylvania schools who attended the meeting.

The Cuba school publication received 860 points out of a possible 1,000 which placed it in the honor division. The Centennial was the theme of the 1950 yearbook.

Students from here attending the meeting were Mary Fodor, Thomas Older, Harriet Hamilton, Mayme Lawton, Kathleen Smith, Clara Thayer and John Shelley.

The association was formed in 1930 to aid schools with their publications and to provide the opportunity for students to exchange ideas. At the meetings problems are discussed and suggestions for the improvement of publications are made.

Elmer E. Handel, principal of the Orchard Park school, welcomed the delegates and pointed out that the experience gained in editing school

Wins Ag Medal

James Beard, a student in Cuba's junior high, was recently awarded a county medal which he earned because of his superior work in the 4-H dairy achievement project.

The county medal is awarded on the basis of excellence in record keeping, showing of stock at fairs and exhibitions, and generally superior work in the dairy project.

D. P. Student Makes Progress

Victor Ponomarenko entered Cuba central school on September 18. Although 13 years of age, he began in the second grade in order to learn to read our language. Victor has been making excellent progress in our school. He has read the Primer and First Reader of our basic texts and also "We Three"—the first of the "Reading for Independence" series which accompanies the basic readers. He has learned the meanings of most of the nouns and many of the action words. He knows the names and sounds of the letters.

Victor can do all the fundamental operations through the 4th grade book in arithmetic and is agile in reading numbers through millions in English. He takes art with the 6th grade and gym with the 7th

Miss McVey Returns

Miss McVey has returned to her duties in the junior high department. She wishes to take this opportunity to thank the many pupils and the different classes that sent her gifts and cards to cheer her during her illness. We are all very happy to have her back in school.

Champion Speller Is Selected

Ralph Rasmusson is the champion speller of Cuba central. He was high scorer in the elimination contest of the Buffalo Evening News spelling contest given in our junior high classes Monday, March 13.

The contest was a written one. Fifty words, selected from the contest list, were pronounced to seventh and eighth grade classes by Miss McVey and Miss Edwards. Ralph missed only one word, precipice! Steve Kowiako is runner-up with Jean Melendy and Edna Young as alternates.

Practice Teachers

St. Bonaventure students are doing their practice teaching in Cuba central during the month of March. Anthony Di Prima is teaching gen-

Musical Woods Entertain Students

The musical Woods entertained C. C. S. students Friday, January 5 in the auditorium.

Mr. Wood has a baritone voice and his wife accompanied him on the piano. Among the songs he presented were "Old Man River," "Without a Song" "McNamara's Band."

He is also a dramatic actor and a portion of the program was given over to both serious and humorous readings.

The program was enjoyed by all present.

Merle Ross Joins Navy

Merle Ross of Cuba central has left to join the navy. Among his accomplishments at school was his band career. He played bass horn for three years. At state contests, and at school concerts he has played bass solos.

Also he played one year of basketball as a guard, two years of baseball, second base, and three years of football, as a guard.

He would like to get into aviation in the navy if possile. We all wish him the best of luck.

THIS year the Yearbook staff has striven to make the '51 "Gargoyle" the best annual the school has produced. Between its covers lies a review of our life--the life of Cuba Central School. The fun and the seriousness of our school life have been combined into one pictorial review of our year as Seniors at C. C. S.

Thanks to the Board of Education, we have eight more pages this year which we have used in trying to improve the book.

This year we have included three Juniors on the Staff so that next year we will have editors with experience.

We wish to extend our sincerest appreciation to Mr. Knowles, whose patient guidance and active interest have greatly contributed to the success of the Yearbook.

THE Student Council, under the direction of Mr. Colburn, is composed of twelve members--four from the Seniors, three from the Juniors, two from the Sophomores, and one from the Freshmen, one from the eighth grade, and, also, this year, one from the seventh grade.

This council was primarily responsible for the success of the Christmas party. This year the program included participation from the entire student body.

The faculty was represented by "Preacher" Johnson; "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" by Mr. Martin, and featuring Mr. Stirling as Jim Britt, the radio announcer. Miss Nowak, accompanied by Mr. Colburn, sang "O Holy Night."

The student body was represented by a group of seventh grade girls who sang Christmas carols; Tyke Bly and Danny McCaffrey also represented the seventh grade by putting on a skit; the senior girls introduced a quartet of boys who sang a number of selections, and "The Singing Quartet," John Shelley, Bruce Deming, Harold McCall, and Merle Ross, enacted "The Thing."

The program ended with group singing under the direction of Miss Nowak and Mr. Colburn. Mr. Stellrecht was feature soloist.

THE Cuba Central School senior mixed choir was organized in September with a membership of fifty high school students, while the junior girls choir numbered forty freshmen and sophomore girls. Both choirs began rehearsals by reviewing well-known numbers and then in October rehearsals began for the Christmas concert.

The annual Christmas Concert was held Wednesday evening, December 13, in the school auditorium for the monthly Parent-Teachers program. It consisted of the senior choir, junior choir, band and grade choir. Following the holiday season, both choirs began work on various types of numbers for their several spring performances. The highlights of the musical year were the Spring Concert, held at the school, the Genesee County Music Festival at Fillmore, the State Festival, and a performance during the F.H.A. conference here at school in May.

Lastly, the Senior Class organized a choir of its class members to sing at its baccalaureate services held the day before graduation. The accompanists for the choirs were Marilyn Matylas and Thomas Older, senior choir, and Doris Robinson, junior choir.

DURING the past school year, the Senior Band has been active in many functions. Band members receive class instructions on their instruments and rehearse three periods every week. Some of the school activities that the Band participated in were: pep rallies for games, the annual P. T. A. Christmas Concert, the Genesee County Music Festival, which was held in Bolivar on May fifth and sixth, and the New York State Sectional Music Festival, which was held in April at Hornell. Our Spring Concert, Memorial Day Parade and Graduation exercises completed the year.

In November, five members attended the New York All-State Music Festival which was held at Arcade this year. At Arcade, the All-State Band was composed of students from 28 schools, and consisted of 125 players.

Our Junior Band was organized in December of this year. The instrumentation is quite well balanced, and in the future will furnish materials for the Senior Band. Students playing in the Junior Band are from grades five, six and seven. All students receive one class lesson each week, and attend one band rehearsal.

FRENCH CLUB

THE clubs of C. C. S. offer one of the many opportunities for student participation in extracurricular activities. These are an important part of our school life because they provide the basis for leadership and individual development. The clubs have increased considerably in size during the past year showing a growing student interest.

DRAMATICS CLUB

THE Cuba Chapter of the F. F. A. has pledged its unceasing effort in increasing its knowledge, interest and leadership in farming.

The F. H. A. is a state and national organization of pupils studying homemaking in the schools for the purpose of preparing for the future. This year the F. H. A. wrapped and delivered Christmas packages for needy families as one of their many projects.

The Photography Club provides an excellent opportunity for camera fans to increase their knowledge of taking pictures and to become acquainted with the processes for developing and enlarging prints.

The members of the Library Club are trained in the various procedures and routines of library technique so that they can efficiently assist the librarian in her work.

The French Club, a new addition this year, was formed to study cultural France and increase the members' speaking knowledge of French.

The Dramatics Club is another new addition, formed for the purpose of gaining a better understanding of the theater and drama and to give the members an opportunity for self-expression. On January 17, the Club presented the play "Sparkin' " by E. P. Conkle for a school assembly.

Although our twirlers are only two in number, they have participated in many school activities, substituting quality for what they lack in quantity.

These various clubs help make a well-rounded school program by combining recreation with seriousness and study.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

CUBA Central School initiated this year an extensive program of evening classes for adults. Registration night, held on November 15, found over 100 members of our community ready to join one of the six courses.

A total of 20 would be artists joined the course in Ceramics, taught by Mr. Swier; 18 registered with Miss Fitzgerald for the course in Typewriting; 15 adults joined the course in Homemaking, taught by Miss Crawford; 15 signed for the course in Industrial Arts with Mr. Stellrecht; 15 men of the community accepted the course in Agriculture, taught by Mr. McCauliff; and 24 were enrolled in the Driver Training class, instructed by Mr. Dodson.

The adult education classes were conducted regularly on Wednesday evenings and were open to all adults of the area served by our school. The program, directed by Mr. Boyd, has proven very popular this year and it is hoped that next year it may be even more successful.

THE Driver Education Course is part of a statewide program to help young drivers learn enough about correct driving practices to reduce the terrific accident rate of their age group.

It includes behind the wheel and classroom instruction. It is worth one-half unit, and, in June, each student tries the State examination for a drivers license. The classes are held once a week in the car and once a week in the classroom. Each student receives six and one-half hours behind the wheel.

The course is popular, both with high school students and with adults; almost two hundred have completed the course in the three years it has been offered.

THE Cuba Central School baseball team in 1950 won 4 games and lost 6. They had two victories over Alfred-Almond and one each over Fillmore and Rushford. They lost two each to Bolivar and Wellsville, and one each to Fillmore and Rushford. The team should be very good next spring as the only boys lost to the team by graduation are Bill Brown and Harley Poore. The team this year had only four regulars back from the year before.

THE 1950 Cuba Central School football team had one of their poorest seasons in many years. A great deal could be laid to the fact that most of the boys were inexperienced. They started the season with three regulars from the year before and most of the rest of the squad were playing varsity ball for the first time. They lost six games and tied one. Next year's team looks more promising as only six players from the squad of thirty will be leaving.
